I. SUMMARY

At the request of the Voting Systems and Procedures Panel (VSPP) staff surveyed counties on the residual vote rates in selected contests. Residual votes consist of both overvotes (making more selections than the voter is allowed in a contest) and undervotes (making fewer selections than the voter is allowed in a contest).

II. METHODOLOGY

There were four primary steps involved in producing the data for the survey.

The first step was to select the contests that would be included in the survey. A decision was made to limit the survey to contests that would appear on ballots statewide. This limited the universe to contests for President, U.S. Senate and state propositions. Next, the list of propositions was further reduced to limit the length of the survey. A decision was made to select the propositions that had the highest and the lowest residual vote rates statewide. Thus, four contests were included in the study:

1. President
2. U.S. Senate
3. Proposition 65
4. Proposition 66

The second step was to survey the counties. This was done by e-mail, along with several follow-up phone calls.

The third step was to standardize the data. This was done to make sure that each county was reporting the total votes cast, total votes counted and residual vote rates in the same way. Doing so consisted of several steps:

- 1) Accepting data submitted by the county that met the standard data format (i.e. No changes were required);
- 2) Adding data not submitted by the county but which was available to the Secretary of State's office (e.g. The County submitted information on the results for each individual system component but not the aggregate for the county as a whole. Staff could add the data submitted together to generate the missing data);
- 3) Modifying the data submitted by the county to match the standard data format (The most common cause of this was confusion about the distinction between "Total Votes Cast" and "Total Voted Counted." Some counties reported these as the same number. In this case staff modified one of the two numbers);
- 4) Identifying data gaps (e.g. No data submitted by county).

A listing of all the steps that were taken to standardize the data is available in the attached chart in the "SC" (Source Code) fields. Staff did not have a chance to review changes made to the data under step 3 with the counties before completing this report. Therefore, there may be some discrepancies in that data.

The fourth step was to aggregate and analyze the data. The results of that study were analyzed based on statewide results, results by voting system type, results by vendor, results by voting system and results by county.

III. LIMITATIONS IN DATA

As discussed above, there were certain gaps in the data that could not be filled. Specifically:

- 1) No data was submitted by Mono County. Therefore no data for Mono is included in any part of the analysis.
- 2) No data was submitted by Monterey County. Therefore no data for Monterey is included in any part of the analysis.
- 3) No data was submitted by Yuba County. Therefore no data for Yuba is included in any part of the analysis.
- 4) Shasta County only submitted data on residual votes and not total votes cast or counted. Therefore no data for Shasta is included in any part of the analysis.
- 5) Fresno County did not submit information on undervote or total residual vote rates. Therefore data from Fresno is only included for overvote rates.
- 6) An error was found in the data submitted by Merced County for Proposition 66. Therefore, no data is included from Fresno County for Proposition 66.
- 7) Marin County only reported aggregate results for its optical scan systems without differentiating between precinct and central count systems. Therefore, no data for Marin is included in the precinct or central count optical scan analysis. Data is included in the optical scan analysis.
- 8) Mariposa County only reported aggregate results for its optical scan systems without differentiating between precinct and central count systems. Therefore, no data for Mariposa is included in the precinct or central count optical scan analysis. Data is included in the optical scan analysis.
- 9) San Francisco County only reported aggregate results for its optical scan systems without differentiating between precinct and central count systems. Therefore, no data for San Francisco is included in the precinct or central count optical scan analysis. Data is included in the optical scan analysis.

IV. RESULTS OF ANALYSIS

The full set of results is contained in the attached chart along with the data used to generate that chart.

A. Statewide

The overall residual vote rate for the selected contests was 4.6%. For President (which traditionally has the lowest residual vote rate) the residual vote rate was only 1.6%.

There was significant variation in the residual vote rate for the propositions. This was caused by significant variation in the undervote rate. However, this appears to be primarily related to varying levels of interest in the propositions, rather than any functionality of the voting system itself.

The overall overvote rate was only 0.1%.

B. Voting System Type

Voting systems were classified into three categories: punchcard, optical scan and Direct Recording Electronic (DRE). Optical scan systems were classified into two sub-categories: precinct county and central count.

Overall, the residual vote rates among these system types was very consistent ranging from 6-7%. Central count optical scan systems had a slightly higher residual vote rate. However, this appears to be primarily related to a higher residual vote rate for one system (InkaVote, discussed below). Excluding the InkaVote system, central count optical scan systems had a residual vote rate of 6.4%.

The overvote rates were also very consistent among the system types. The one exception was for DREs, which had an overvote rate of virtually 0.

Precinct-based systems (precinct count optical scan and DRE) had somewhat lower undervote rates than central-count systems.

C. Voting System Vendor

Most voting system vendors had residual vote rates ranging from 6-7.5% with overvote rates around 0.1%.

Two exceptions are of note:

1. Sequoia had a lower residual vote rate (5.5%). This appears to be primarily related to a lower undervote rate for the AVC Edge (see below).
2. InkaVote had a higher residual vote rate (8.7%) than other systems. It had above average rates for all contests studied. Of particular note is that it had significantly higher overvote rates for contests for President and U.S. Senate than other vendors.

D. Voting System

The residual vote rates by individual voting systems appear in the attached chart.

Two sets of systems had significantly lower residual vote rates than the average:

1. Sequoia AVC Edge (4.3%)
2. ES&S Model 100, 550, 650 Series (5.6%, 5.1%, 5.2% respectively).

The InkaVote system had above average residual vote rates as discussed previously.

E. Counties

Residual vote rates by county are contained in the attached chart. The higher than average residual vote rates for some counties may be attributed to confusion on the part of either the counties or Secretary of State staff in the process of standardizing the data as discussed in Section II.

V. PUBLIC COMMENT

In response to the public meeting notice being issued and allowing for written submissions, staff has received no correspondences specific to this item.
